A guest lecture was arranged for the second year students on menstrual health and hygiene. This lecture was arranged to create awareness on Interventions for menstrual hygiene and health that aid in overcoming these challenges. They not only fulfill the unmet need for menstrual hygiene products, but they also uphold adolescents' sexual and reproductive health, while also protecting their dignity and boosting their self-esteem.

This lecture was a part of early exposure of community physiotherapy to the students, where the students learnt how to educate the menstruating female population regarding the health and hygiene during this period.

This session was quite interactive, students were expressed interest by asking their doubts and queries. Over all this activity was a great success with new experiences.
